WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 .- (By the Associated Press) The air about the Senate wing of the Capitol is full of rumors of a compromise upon the financial question, but it is impossible trace the most of these to any source which appears authoritative, or which will indicate any organized movement of sufficient force to produce results. One story given out is to the effect that Senator Gorman is moving in the direction of a compromise. It reports that he has been to the Executive Mansion with a suggestion to the effect that it would be impossible to secure action on the part of the Senate until the repeal forces shall, agree to some compromise which the silver men will accept. Senator Gorman's former friendship for the white metal, and the fact that he is personally on THE SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES OF THE State Loan and Trust Company are inclosed in a fire-proof and burglar-proof vault, which is ample in size and trillantly lighted by electricity; alcoves attached for the private examination of valuables, with writing materials; u young lady in attendance.

GRASETT, room 3, New Wilson Block. good terms with the Senators from the silver States, together with the fact that he has long been one of the Democratic leaders in the Senate, has caused this report to appear very plausible. Notwithstanding many cirocratic cumstances which seemed to confirm the report, Senator Gorman denied the story in explicit terms and assured the questioner that the report was utterly without foundation.

"We shall," he said, "fight this thing out to a finish, and when a vote is taken it will be upon the proposition of unconditional repeal.'

It was also given out that Senators Faulkner and Lindsay are working in the interest of a compromise. Senator
Lindsay said he had no measure of ompromise to offer, as reported, but favored the continued use of silver. He intimated that he would support a fair compromise. Senator Faulkner did not hesitate to say to the Senator that while, if forced to do so, he would onditional repeal, he should irst try to get through an amendment to the pending bill, providing for the oinage of $3,000,000 in silver dollars er month until the silver in circula tion shall reach $800,000,000, and for the retirement of all bills of denominations

Repeal leaders ridicule the idea of a compromise, but are no longer so confident of rushing the bill to a rapid conclusion. The silver men declare that they cannot at any time get a safe majority on a compromise in the The chief obstacle in the way of a compromise appears to be the difficulty of formulating a proposition upon which Southern and Western anti-repeal Demcrats can unite. There is little doubt that a compromise which, while re-pealing the Sherman act, at the same time will repeal the 10 per cent. tax on State bank issues, would be acceptable to the Southern Democratic Senators, but the Western silver Senators would doubtless reject such offers of com-

On the other hand, a compromise involving silver that would be accepted by the Western Senators would not satisfy the Souther Democrats, unless ecompanied by legislation to promote the issue of State bank currency. It is hardly probable that the repeal forces would assent to a compromise involving concessions on both these questions, and their present policy is apparently to deny any possibility of a compromise, lest the mere suggestion should open the field to an avalanche of propositions, and only fur-ther embarrass the situation.

ANOTHER VIEW.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—That late extremity, the cloture, is not to be invoked by the American Senate. The majority of the members in favor of unconditional repeal has been carefully polled, and it declared that the condi tions were not such as to warrant any radical departure from the time-hon-ored traditions of the Senate, or render it necessary to secure the cloture of debate, and force the repeal bill to a final vote. The conferences daily held between the President and leading Senators, participated in almost in-variably by Secretary Carlisle, have been full of promise, not of the pass-age of the bill unconditionally repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, but of this bill amended by such conditions as to give to it the un-deniable garb of a compromise.

One by one the Senators who openly expressed themselves in favor of uncon-ditional repeal, and they are nearly three-fifths of the United States Senate, have been consulted as to the advisability of adopting the cloture, and results have been that less than thirty out of eighty-six Senators have exout of eighty-six senters have ex-pressed themselves in favor of resort-ing to such extreme measures. This startling innovation from the traditions of the Senate, therefore, will not be a part of the record to be left behind by part of the record to be left behind by this extraordinary session.

With the proposition for the cloture finally abandoned, there remains but two alternatives for the repeal Senators—compromise, or defeat at the hands of the filibusters who do not operate in the open guise of filibusters, but in repeated demands for a call of the Senate and a resort to other parliamentary and a resort to other parliamentary proprieties to prolong indefinitely the debate. Of these two alternatives, the one promising greater benefit appears likely to be chosen, and that is for a compromise. A series of conferences is to be held from time to time until the end of next week, when it is hoped that a clear majority will be found wedded to a proposition which will not be consend by the minority with wedded to a proposition which will not be opposed by the minority with enough vehemence to lead to filibuster-ing opposition.

The proposition of compromise now under discussion, and meeting with the greater favor, provides that, coupled with the bill repealing the purchase clause of the Sherman act, there shall be a law directing the Secretary of the be a law directing the Secretary of the Treasury to buy monthly a considera-bly reduced amount of silver bullion, and to actually coin this bullion into money. The Secretary of the Treasury is also to be given ample power to protect all gold and currency and money of the United States, to make it interchangeable, and in addition to this, the national banks of the United States are to be permitted to issue national notes to an aggregate equal to the face value of the United States bonds on deposit.

Concessions to the State banks are also discussed, and the four separate and distinct subjects which it is pro-posed to include in the repeal bill as various compromise thereto, represent the four factions into which the United States Senate may be said to be divided at this time. None of these factions would get what has been demanded by this legislation but each would get slight concession and some consolation from uncond tional repeal, and each faction would retire from the conflict free from the nus of defeat, and with laurels of tial victory to be placed to its credit.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS. EXTRA SESSION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(By the Associated Press.) SENATE.—At the lose of this morning's business Senator Voorhees called up the repeal bill. Senator Faulkner of West Virginia addressed the Senate and said he would vote for the bill, but declared he would present an amendment for the coinage of $3,000,000 in silver dollars per month until $800,000,000 was in circulation. He predicted a deficit of $50,000,000 this fiscal year. Senator Faulkner, questioned by Senator Turple of Indiana, said he favored bimetallism. The issue was not whether silver should be further used as money, but whether its purchase should be continued. The very act of purchasing was a discrimination against silver because gold was brought to the treasury. He predicted an era of free trade and a free ballot. When these are secured free coinage of silver would necessarily follow.

Senator Jones of Arkansas followed, declaring that to redeem the party pledges the entire Sherman act should be repealed. When he had finished it was 3:30 o'clock. Senator Voorhees rose and said he would not ask an unreasonable session but he thought 3:30 was an unreasonable hour at which to adjourn. If there was no Senator who had decided to speak he would have to ask for a vote.

Senator Hale of Maine said he hoped that Senator Vecab.

that Senator Voorhees, if he could control the situation, would not concontrol the situation, would not con-sent to an adjournment. The Republi-cans had refrained from using up the time by answering speeches made on the other side. With the exception of Senator Sherman, and perhaps one or two others on the Republican side, who were in favor of repeal, they had sat silently in their seats ready to vote at all times, and had taken up none of the time of the session, and they were now in that attitude, ready and willing now in that attitude, reand desirous of voting.

Senator Voorhees was rather nettled by Senator Hale's remarks and replied in a somewhat heated manner.

Senator Dubols of Idaho said that Senator Hale did not represent all of the Republicans. It seemed difficult for Senator Hale to realize the fact that the Republicans had lost control of the Senate.

Senator Teller explained why it was he preferred to proceed tomorrow stead of today. There had been no necessary delay, so far as he (Te was concerned. He intended to bate this question until he was thoroughly satisfied that he had discharged

Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island (Rep.) obtained the floor, and, after a brief talk, the session went into executive session and soon adjourned.

FILLING VACANCIES. Senator Perkins Assigned to Places Once Oc-

cupled by Senator Stanford. WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(By the Associated Press.) The Republican members of the Senate met in caucus this morning. The business was rou-tine, consisting of filling vacancies in the Senatorial committees, and the as-signment of positions to Senate employees allowed to the Republicans. There are very few committee vacan-cles, except those caused by the death of Senator Stanford, which were filled by the assignment of his successor Senator Perkins, to them, as follows: Committees on Civil Service and Re-trenchment, Education and Labor and Labor, Fisheries and Naval Affairs. Senator Perkins was also appointed to a position on the Committee on In-dian Affairs and the Potomac River Front. The vacancy in the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, of which Senator Stanford was chairman, will, it is said, be given to Senator

Carey.

There is a growing disposition in the Senate to oppose Presidential nomina-tions of outside offices for the Terri-tories. The Republicans, naturally, have decided to stand upon the ques have decided to stand upon the question, and there is understood to be some Democrats who agree with them as to the wisdom and fitness of observing the home-rule doctrine in the matter, but none of these have so far asserted their opinion to the extent of antagonizing any special appointments.

A number of such nominations were in the Committee on India

The Insurgent Fleet Leaves Rio Janeiro Rioting Coal-miners Shot by Troops-Estimates for European War Vessels-Cholera Case.

By Telegraph to The Times. LONDON, Sept. 8.—(By Cable and Associated Press.) A significant feature of the home-rule discussion in the House of Lords today was the fact that a special police force was ordered to report for duty in the palace yards in front of the House of Parliament, in order to be ready for immediate ac tion in case a hostile demonstration was made against the lords when the latter should leave the building after the division on the Home-rule Bill

The House presented a brilliant and almost unprecedented spectacle when, at 10 p.m., Lord Salisbury rose to de the last speech in opposition to the Home-rule Bill. The House was crowded, as well as all approaches thereto. Lord Salisbury was loudly cheered when he arose.

In the course of his speech, he said "The proposed retention of Irish mem-bers in the Commons is an outrage so enormous and grotesque that I'm surprised that any responsible government dared suggest it. (Cheers.) All the arguments of the government showed that their policy was one of despair. They had no right to take any step which endangered the existence, happi ness and prosperity of the Irish people. The men who would govern Ireland, should the bill pass, are those who have been found guilty of criminal conspiracy. Should we not be in an conspiracy. Should we not be in an infinitely worse position than at present; if we entrusted Ireland to such men, in the event of trouble with the United States or any other foreign power? (Loud cheers.) If you allowed this atrocous, treacherous bill to pass, ou would be untrue to the duty which descended to you from splendid an estry.

The Earl of Kimberly spoke for the bill on behalf of the government, and a division was then taken, resulting 319 against the bill and 41 for it.

In the street an immense crowd awaited the announcement of the result of the division. A strong detachment of police mingled with the crowd and were drawn up in front of the entrance to the building. When the realt finally reached the people it was received with vociferous cheering. As analysis of the vote shows twenty-five bishops and archbishops who present at the division, and all voted with the majority. The vote was the largest ever recorded in the House of the Rioting in the Coal-mining Districts is Increasing.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(By Cable and Associated Press.) The riots in the coal-mining districts are increasing. Notingham the strikers saturated three coal-cars with tar, paraffine and coaloil, and set them ablaze down an incline toward the pit entrance, and severely stoned the police who endeav severely stoned the ponce who endeav-ored to prevent the outrage. They dis-persed only after a desperate struggle. A detachment of a northern regiment has been dispatched to Midlands, and a Suffolk regiment and force of cavalry s held in readiness to go at a monent's notice.

Lord Inasham's colliery near Ponte-fract was so badly wrecked that it will require at least three weeks to repair it. The shooting there last even-ing by the troops of eight rioters, two of whom have since died, has caused much commotion among the strikers who are gathering from all parts, vow-come reports that the striking miners are rioting and destroying property of their employers. Troops have been sent to all sections where there is trouble occurring. The people are much alarmed. Thousands of pounds damage has already been done and the work of destruction continues. Shops and saloons are being pillaged and crops are being destroyed.

On the other hand, 90,000 Welsh miners resumed work today, and it is hoped their action may have a beneficial effect upon the English miners, who are now in a state of extreme ex-citement. North Staffordshire miners have also agreed to resume work at the old wages. There is great dis-tress among the miners at Derbyshire and the men there are literally starv-Dispatches received this evening from Pontefract say that another of the wounded rioters is dead. The military and police are on guard at various points where rioting has occurred.

An effort to bring about discussion of the coal-miners' riots was pronounced by the Home Secretary as premature, and it was not successful.

The Naval Forces Will Be Strengthened in Chinese Waters.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(By the Associated Press.) A cabinet meeting was held today, and it is understood that the topics which came up for consideration included the government finances. the Hawaiian question, the trouble in Brazil, and the Chinese Exclusion Act. It is believed to be a settled fact that the government will enforce the latter act to the full extent of the funds available for that purpose, and Con-gress will be-asked to make additional ppropriations to enable the thorough enforcement of the law. In view of the practical determination of the gov-ernment to enforce the Geary law, and the belief that the Chinese will not acthe belief that the Chinese will not accept this action peacefully, arrangements have been made to strengthen the United States naval force in Chinese waters. Nearly all of the entire present fleet of wooden vessels will be replaced with new steamships. The change is now in progress.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(By the Associated Press.) The attendance at the World's Fair is steadily increasing, bringing great encouragement to the management. The average of 150,000 daily was passed some time ago. Yesterday was a day of ordinary attraction, yet 200,000 paid admissions. This average is expected to be kept, or perhaps bettered as the fair draws to a close. There is promise of an immense attendance tomorrow, when there are a dozen big features. California and the Grand Army will have the right-of-way, so to speak, as will also the transportation exhibitors, the Territory of Utah and the stationary engineers. The ceremonies will include the dedication of the new Liberty Bell, and there will be a grand-procession of the States through the grounds, under the direction of the Grand Army of the Republic. Fifty thousand veterans are expected to participate. There will be a series of popular concerts in the Transportation building by a dozen bands and instrumental quartetes. California will keep open house and present a package of fresh fruit to every visitor. Utah will entertain with the aid of the great Mormon choir. The principal address was de-livered by Bishop Keane of Washing-ton, rector of the Catholic University ton, rector of the Catholic University of America, his topic being "Catholic Higher Education." Among other addresses was one by Dr. Edgars of the University of Notre Dame of Indiana on "The Needs of Catholic Colleges." His address caused something of a sensation. He said that a crisis had come in higher Catholic American education. If the regular stationary and the control of t of a sensation. He said that a crisis had come in higher Catholic American education. If it remains stationary now, it must eventually go backward. "We need," he said, "first of all in our Catholic colleges, the firm insistence on some system which will make men rather than exotics. We need a system of discipline which will lay more stress on the honor of youth and the loss of the subtle distinction between venial and moral sin. I do not propose to find fault with the study hall and dormitory arrangement, as imported from Europe, as far as boys under 16 years of age are concerned; they may be useful or not, but I io not mean to insist that where young men over 16 years of age are concerned they are sometimes detrimental to the mental advancment of the student and always to his self-respect.

"There is also a gap between the Catholic college and the higher parochial or public schools," he said, "which should, without much mort delay, be filled. Catholic colleges are not endowed, but more than all, they need scholarships. With scholarships will come just suich students as they ought to have. Lay professors of character and acquirements are needed, too. No college which is entirely manned by ecclesiastics can thoroughly do its work or obtain its proper place in American society."

Irrigation Congress Committee.
The General Committee of the Irrigation Congress met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There were present noon at 4 o'clock. There were present the following: D. Freeman, F. L. Alles, A. C. Bilicke, J. A. Pirtle, W. C. Patterson, Charles Forman, E. F. C. Klokke, C. D. Wilhard, Eugene Germain, E. W. Jones, T. B. Merry, Mr. Freeman presided. Mr. Willard acted as secretary.

The treasurer reported that he had funds in hand sufficient to repay the money borrowed from the Chamber of Commerce, and it was moved and carried that the debt be paid.

It was floved and carried that the work of soliciting for subscriptions to pay the expenses of the congress be commenced next week.

After some discussion devoted chiefly to questions of finance, the committee adjourned.

in the Crocker Block, No. 212 South Broadway, have been opened less than a week, but they are proving very attractive. Services will be held there tomorrow at 3:45 p.m., to which all young women are cordially invited. Miss Carrie Hull of the First Baptist Church will lead the meeting, and good music has been provided.

As many parties who are seeking employment and also rooms and board are coming to the association to make inquiries, it is desired that all who wish to furnish such accommodations, as, well as to employ help, leave their names at the Y.W.C.A. rooms.

THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY. es Building, Los Angeles, Cal

The California pioneers have been dealing out some very severe criticisms to that remarkable history manufacturer. Hubert Howe Bancroft, the cause being a number of slanderous remarks distinguished men inserted in these so-called histories. 'One of the most outrageous libels was the following fling at Gen. Grant, which aptory of Oregon," and was forced out of the later ones by the pressure of

of the later ones by the pressure of indignant patrons:

"Among these soldiers was U. S. Grant, a man of mediocre abilities and somewhat loose habits, subsequently elevated by accident to the head of the army, and twice to the Presidency of the United States. Not satisfied to rest upon the world's highest honors, he turned and took a downward course, asked again to be President and was refused, and finally engaged in business, which was disreputably managed and resulted in ignominious failure. So the end of the man was as bad as the beginning."

This man Bancroft is an historian for revenue only. For many years he has kept a small army of hard-up writers scribbling away in his factory on Market street. The average pay of these men used to be somthing like a dollar a day. Perhaps it is less now, that times are hard. The stuff which was ground out by these under-paid under-fed menials of the great historian was collected and knocked into shape by men who occupied a position similar to that of foreman in a factory, receiving, perhaps, two bits a day or so more than the common herd. Then the great man himself would glance over the matter and condescend to attach his name to it. Of course, it cannot be expected that work prepared in such a manner as this should be characterized by any great amount of exactitude and ability.

The most objectionable feature, however, of this man's operations is his habit of levying a sort of blackmail upon persons whom he mentions in his books. To get a favorable mention in these histories and other works, Bancroft has not hesitated to demand large sums of money or to make threats of what might happen in case such demands were refused. His work on the "uncrowned kings" of the State was the apotheosis of the paid "write-up." Every word of complimentary tice in the book represents a round figure in dollars and cents. Bancroft is a disgrace to the pro-fession of literature. His methods being now so well known, it is astonishing that he succeeds in finding many victims. He brings, however, double influence to bear. On the one and he plays upon the ambition for storiety of shallow-minded persons, only claim to distinction is that ay have succeeded in acquiring a large would be highly ridiculous to see these great potentates spend half their time in trying to checkmate each other, and ecure the lion's share-of all the prestige, entente, status quo, and similar high-priced goods that are available on continental market.

As was to have been expected, Uncle Sam has not escaped the effects of the financial stringency. The customs receipts have never been so low since the war as they are at present. The receipts are now running about $170,-000 per day behind the expenditures. For the first time the import duties have fallen below the internal revenue receipts. For the fiscal year from July 1 to the present time the government expenditures exceed the receipts by $19,000,000. At this rate the deficit at the end of the year will be very large. It wouldn't be a bad idea to put some of the high-paid officials, who have little do, on half time. It is not likely that the public interests would suffer mong the old and poor that may be ound even in this land of the free. Under the provisions of the Austrian poor law, at 60 years of age, a man may claim from his native town or ommune a pension equal to one-third celved during his working years. The amount varies from 2 to 6 florins a month. In Vienna alone there are 6,000 persons who receive these penions from the city.

R. H. H. Hunt of San Francisco has perfected improvements upon the En-glish loom, by which operators weave with an endless thread, requiring no change of shuttles and consequent loss of time. As California has such vast possibilities for the production of wool, silk and ramie, this invention bids fair to revolutionize the manufacture textile fabrics.

LOS ANGELES THEATER. - Although it is over a hundred years since Richard Brinsley Sheridan brought out his sparkling and unique comedy of "The Rivals" in London, it many countries are recognized as legitimate debts collectible by process of has lost not a whit of its power to set the laughter going, and last night proved the assertion with marked emphasis. To be sure one missed thunctious humor of Joe Jefferson in the laughter land to the laughter set. "The natives regard alcoholic stimulants as foods or food accessories, using them at meals and then in minute quantities. Drunkards and total abstainers are almost unknown. It is a disgrace of the deepest sort for a Chinaman to be a dipsomaniac. It is equally disgraceful to supply him with liquor or to do business with him when under its influence. For this reason drinking debts are extremely rare. When they do exist, the creditor is both ashamed and afraid to acknowledge the fact, and, as a natural consequence, to take any steps toward the delightful role of fighting Bob Acres but yet the old comedy was so we dressed and so well presented that dressed and so well presented that it were captious to cavil.

It seems a startling innovation to see a player starring in the role of sign. Malaprop, but when one comes to think of it the old writers were not wont to write one part plays, and hence it is scarcely the thing to say that any of the players who came to last night end kept the mirth bubbling for three hours, is, so far as the play itself goes, any more of a star than either of the others. One who has seen Mrs. Drew in the role of the lady with the astounding vocabulary, the lady who "monkeys" with the Queen's English until it could by no Queen's English until it could by no possibility ever be discovered where it is "at," has seen Mrs. Malaprop in propera persona. There is not a genufiection, a nod, an intonation of a word-blunder that is not done with an art so arch and yet unstudied as to be absolutely captivating. She carries her years as jauntily as she does the towering feathers in her colfure, and in the guise of the miseducated gentlewoman is altogether charming. With what skill she handles the scene with Capt. Absolute, where she, by mischance, hands him O'Trigger's leter, and how rarely well done is the Mr. Reed said:

"The continuance of the purchases under the Sherman act would, in the estimation of the world, be a declaration that we intended to go on with our purchases to such an extent that we would find ourselves upon a silver basis after no great lapse of time. Now, whatever this country may desire to do, whatever its intentions are for the future, one thing seems to be clear, if the people are to go upon a silver basis they want to know that they are going to do so, and want to do it deliberately. If the plain question were presented to every American citizen whether he desired that this country should be put upon a purely silver basis, with gold banished, the great majority of answers would be no. And this ground they would take without abating a jot their determination to

With what skill she handles the scene with Capt. Absolute, where she, by mischance, hands him O'Trigger's letter, and how rarely well done is the bit of playing where the fact dawns upon her that it is Capt. Absolute, the false "Ensign Beverly," who wrote the letter characterizing her as "a weather-beaten old harridan." It is all consummately done, an education in the art of "play-acting." Mr. Rankin's make-up as Sir Anthony Absolute was excellent and his playing of the role very satisfactory. Mr. Verner's O'Trigger was surprisingly good. and Mr. Drew is to be congratulated on the way he played Bob Acres. Of course one with difficulty disconnects Jefferson with the role, but Mr. Drew has a fine appreciation of the part and played it well, indeed. The low tone which he uses in his dialogue is very trying to the ear, and tends to mar his playing. Mr. Mills as Capt. Absolute was, as the chapples say, not half bad, and Mrs. Sidney Drew made a most beautiful Lydia Languish, although she misses many of the neat points in which other actresses have won distinction in the role. However, the play is sufficiently well presented all around to make one regret that the playwrights of this era have not a small portion of Sheridan's genius.

There will be the usual matinee this aftenoon, the engagement closing tonight, and the play-goer who wishes to be genuinely entertained should not fall to see "The Rivals." The management gives assurance that the company, hence there will be no "cutting."

A meeting of the principals of the high schools of the county was held yesterday morning, at which the courses of study for high school work were discussed. There was great unanimity in the were discussed.

There was great unanimity in the meeting, and there can be no doubt that within a short time the high schools of the county will be practically pursuing the same courses of study as far as the facilities of different communities will permit.

The result of this will be that pupils in high schools may be transferred from one district to another without loss of time, and without being obliged to change text books.

Nathan F. Smith of Santa Monica was elected secretary of the meeting, and will have charge of the correspondence necessary to complete the work began yesterday.

Among those present were the superintendent and the deputy superintendent of the city schools, Superintendent F. A. Molyneaux of Pomona, J. D. Graham of Pasadena, J. H. Strine, Monrovia: C. T. THE CHINESE SITUATION.

Departure of the Five Heathen-Scarcity Vegetable Peddlers.

Vegetable Peddlers.

The United States Marshal's office was crowded with Chinarien yesterday, among whom were the men brought down from Redlands. These heathen were searched, after which they were sent to the County Jail for safe-keeping.

During the morning Judge Ross signed the orders of deportation of the five Chinamen, and they were taken north by Marshal Gard at 2 o'clock. When the United States Court convened in the morning, the attorneys for the convicted Chinamen asked that the orders of deportation be set aside, for want of jurisdiction. It was argued that warrants could not be issued on the affidavits of ditzens. Judge Ross refused to entertain the motions. The attorneys then moved for an appeal from the order of the court. This was refused. The attorneys will, however, apply for writs of habeas corpus in San Francisco.

Application was also made for the admission of one of the Chinamen to bail, but Judge Ross ruled that the case was not a ballable one.

Judge Ross yesterday directed the District Attorney to issue no more warrants until after Monday.

There was a great dearth of Chinese vegetable wagons about the city yesterday, and the laundry wagons driven by Morgolians were nearly as scarce. The prevailing belief was to the effect that the Chinamen had been ordered by some meeting of their fellows to decline to carry on any further trade with the whites, in the hopes that the people would see the necessity of having them here.

The Chinamen, however, gave a different reason for the non-appearance of their fellows. They stated that the men who had, been driving the wagons had stopped doing so because they feared arrest.

Chinatown was not as dull last night. During the morning Judge Ross

The Consolidated Bank of San Diego.

Bryant Howard's Mismanagement Explained.

He Was a Confirmed Victim of the Opium Habit. Its Effect Upon His Conduct of the Bank -

less and Careless Methods

The startling statement contained in the Associated Press dispatches from San Diego yesterday morning that Bryant Howard, the president of the de-funct Consolidated Bank, had long been victim of the morphine habit, a dis overy that explained many incidents in connection with the causes leading up to the failure of that institution, was the general topic of conversation in financial circles in this city yesterday. Mr. Howard is undoubtedly one of the best-known bankers in the southern part of the State; in fact, has an extensive acquaintance all over the East, and had always been regarded as an able financier up to the time his bank suspended. Since then, however, facts came out which could not be explained, until his secret, which he certainly guarded welf, was discovered, which made everything plain. The San Diego Union of Friday prints the following account of the matter:

A fact became known yesterday that throws a flood of light upon the affairs of the Consolidated National Bank. Ever since its suspension rumors have been flying, imputing mismanagement, and even rascality, on the part of its president. Bryant Howard. It was known positively that day. Mr. Howard is undoubtedly on and. It was known positively that transactions had taken place that the user questionable in nature, implying deliberate dishonesty, or the most gross ignorance and stupidity. Bryant Howard has stood for eighteen years at the head of the bank, his word was absolute, and anything irregular in its concerns was attributed by the public directly to him.

While Receiver O'Conor and the officials of the bank have maintained the utmost reserve, it has leaked out from stockholders and from other, sources that the bank has steadily sunken in vitality for the past five years, until now the stock will be swept away in paying depositors. The wreck of this institution is the history of the wreck of its president, who has stood for years as one of the ablest financiers of the State. Bryant Howard has been the synonym of financial stability and honor. The frightful shrinnage and collapse of the bank is due to two causes, the more important of which is the mental disintegration and paralysis of the president of the bank, while continuing iar full authority and exerting a dictatorial power over its affairs.

The other reason for inevitable failure was the shrinkage in the bank's holdings and business since the boom. It was in more than one case a bulawark between business houses and disaster, and the strain upon it was heavy. Naturally as heavy demands were made upon it the choloest and most available securities were drawn upon, until, at this late day, the value of what is left may be imagined. Such was the strength of the institution that it has tided over troublous times till the present, while paying out an immense amount of money and withstanding a great drop in the value of its stock. In addition to legitimate burdens, however, overdrafts were allowed on Bryant Howard's order, much above the limit of safety, and loans made above the limit of safety, and loans made above the limit of law. In one instance $80,000 was loaned personal advanta-however, among homed, and who habit. He certainly has not profited to any great extent in any direction in the past few years, and from a reliable source it is learned that in the clean-up of affairs of the bank Mr. Howard will be left without a dollar. He has been absent for several days in San Francisco, striving to realize on securities, and meet his assessments honorably. He, or his wife, is still interested in the firm of Whittier, Fuller & Co., and derives a fair revenue therefrom. Mrs. Howard is possessed of considerable wealth in her own right.

nonorably. He, or mis wife, is still interested in the firm of Whittier, Fuller & Co., and derives a fair revenue therefrom. Mrs. Howard is possessed of considerable wealth in her own right.

Receiver O'Conor will leave on tomorrow or Sunday for his home at La Salle, Ill., to arrange for removing his family to San Diego. He will return about October 1. Comptroller Eckles, as already known, is a law partner of Receiver O'Conor, and is now in Illinoid, where Mr. O'Conor will confer with him regarding the Consolidated National's affairs. The general public is convinced that Receiver O'Conor is a fair and able man, who will deal ably and squarely in winding up the bank.

"There is only one way to look upon this matter." he said yesterday to a Union reporter. "The depositors must be paid their money as fast as consistent with reason. The stockholders and others owing the bank must not get the idea that they are to be allowed long and indefinite time in which to pay up. The money they have is depositors' money, and I am here to see that it is returned. If certain accounts can be settled in a short time, even with a little sacrifice, for the depositors' sakes they have got to be settled. There will be a firm policy in this matter, and no dilly-dallying. On the other hand, there is no intention to impair values or slaughter assets by too hasty action. Different accounts will be treated differently, but the depositors' interests will be made paramount.

"There are so many transfers of accounts and crediting outside, the henk

"There are so many transfers of accourts and credits outside the bank that there will be such time consumed in finding the names and amounts standing as creditors. This work will be hurried, however, and I hope by the expiration of ninety days after the official notice to file proof of claim that depositors' certificates may be issued. That will be about sixty days hence. I expect that the first dividend will follow."

"How much will the first dividend "How much will the list array amount to?"

"Well, if collections proceed in reasonable shape there will be a dividend of about 20 per cent."

"Can you say how long the bank will be in liquidation?"

"Are you on intimate terms with the Almighty?" asked the receiver in return, with a twinkle in his eye. "It is something nobody knows, but I can turn, with a twinkle in his eye. "It is something robody knows, but I can say it will not be needlessly prolonged. Stockholders and others who owe the bank, who expect to be allowed indefi-nite time on a fast and loose basis, must change their minds. Why should the business drag along ten years if it can be settled in a year and a half?"

CALIFORNIA AT THE FAIR. nterview With Col. Charles F. Crocker-Ad

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Charles F. Crocker, the millionaire of California, is in Chicago and said yester-lay to the Times correspondent: "California has not suffered from the financial has not suffered from the financial trouble as have the so-called sliver States. There has been no feeding of unemployed in California. We have felt the depression somewhat, but our shipments have kept up well. We are now shipping, and have been for many weeks, from Middle and Southern California from 100 to 150 carloads of fruit daily. Our shipments to tide water for trans-shipment to Europe of fruit daily. Our shipments to tide water for trans-shipment to Europe have been the greatest in the history of the State. The work on the buildings of our Midwinter Fair will give employment to labor. That work, however, will be confined to the labor that properly belongs in California. We do not propose to entertain tramps. We will give the work to our own people. I regard the worst as past in financial matters. From now on I believe we shall have better times, restored confidence and a ready resumption of old-time trade. I am here merely to visit the fair, and not on any matter of railroad, commercial or financial interest."

Next Saturday will be California day at the fair. The California commissioners are now arranging a programme of unusual excellence. A special feature of the occasion will be the giving away to every man, woman and child on the grounds, who makes ap plication for it, a basket of California plication for it, a basket of California fruit. Fruit stands, for the purpose of distribution, will be erected around the California building. There will be not parade on California day. The Western Association of California Pioneers and Mexican veterans will unite in the exercises, and will hold a picnic near the building. Addresses will be made by Vice-President James Phelan of the

WILL DO THE WORK.

The County Auditor Cannot Let Out Work by Contract. For several days there has been a rolls. This duty by law devolves upon the Auditor, and last year cost something in the neighborhood of $3000. It appears that some one, presumably Aaron Smith, has stated to the supervisors that the work can be done for visors that the work can be done for $700, and has offered to enter into a contract to do it for that sum. Mr. Lopez says that this is impossible, and when a committee of the Citizens League called on him in reference to the matter, he stated that he was will hig to do anything he could to save the county money, but had no authority to delegate any one to do the work of his office by contract. He will accordingly do the work, and thinks it will cost about $2000.

It is all very well to say that white skirts and white stockings are to be. Both had a good chance and some favor this summer, but the coming setson is another thing. Women, after all these years of black stockinged comfort are not scope head, to white all these years of black stockinged comfort, are not going back to white and unbleached, nor after the pretty and serviceable silk and colored skirts of last season are they going to spoil a pretty street costume in the fall or winter by a laundered skirt underneath. Silk skirts will be worn again The demand is a skirt for each dress. It may not match the dress in color, but it will be more likely to present that acme of indefluiteness, "a pleasing contrast," and yet must evidently be intended for use with the gown.

The most elaborate of these under-skirts will have ruffles on the inside as well as on the outside. This is a trick caught from the dancers to give a fluffy effect when the foot is lifted, and though the woman of fashion is not going to do a skirt-dance on the sidewalk, there are other ways of showing a fluffy effect. Less elaborate ones are faced with velvet, that material being established in favor for bindings and facings of skirts, and finished at the foot with a ruche of silk. Economy may be consulted by putting a full skirt of silk on a deep yoke of a less expensive material.

The fichu of the accompanying illustration is particularly suitable for expensive material.

The fichu of the accompanying illustration is particularly suitable for slender young women, and is made of an end of lace of sufficient length to suit the wearer's figure. This is sewed to a ribbon frame and forms a deep box pleat in back, while over the shoulders it is gathered very full. A narrow frill of the same lace as the edging is sewed to the upper side that comes around the neck, where it is laid in folds to form a point behind. The ends are pointed, cross in front expentine fashion and are tied in a knot at the back. Behind, too, there is a bow of white ribbon, and falling from under the boxpleat there are two ends of three-inch silk ribbon forty-five inches in length. This fichu is very dainty and dressy, and can be made either of lace, mull or silk.

FLORETTE.

HOW TO WIDEN.

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.) Today's picture shows a handsome bonnet with strings of jet falling onto the hair. This same jet reigns stead-ily. Don't you believe the report that it is "going out." Remember that re-port has sounded every season since jet "came in," and when that was the mind of woman remembers The upright bow, which is the made of fine black lace. in the Parisian importations, and white has this season the cachet of England's choles.

Serge underskirts are a new idea. They are made of the close, fine serge that has been employed with so much success the past season in bath suits. These wash like a white skirt, and are made in white and bright colors, the ruffles being finished with insertion or hems of silk in contrasting shades. Something entirely new in skirts, and perhaps not altogether to be recommended, is white serge, finished with bands of curled lamb's wool, used as heading for silk ruffling. Skirts for the street will be called for still wider, but the skirts of today are not going to be out of date for a year or so. Also there will be many ways of accomplishing the added width. Panels will be accepted. Already the favor accorded the model, which allows close hips and a flounce from there down, is most pronounced. Under the flounce the old skirt is widened. Ruffles give an effect of width, a narrow ruffle to start at about the hips and wider and wider ones toward the foot of the skirt. One pattern introduces panels on the blas in a way that will rejoice the heart of the woman who still has some of the sheath skirts on hand with their blas trains. Weren't they pretty, those sheath skirts, after all? Old skirts may be split right up the sides and the back as far as the hips, and a ruffled panel set in. Don't despar and don't give away your old clothes, neither need you "give away" your new ones, even if they are most of them "make-overs."

The Irrigation Congress.

Gov. Markham of California has issued a proclamation calling the attention of the people of the transmississippi States and Territories to the International Irrigation Congress which is called to convene at Los Angeles, October 10, 1893. The citizens of the arid States are invited and urged to send full delegations to the congress, which promises to be the most notable gathering of its kind ever held in this country.

Clark Again Occupies the Bench Department Two-Many Small Matters Disposed of-New Suits. Court Notes.

A complaint was filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday afternoon in a suit by Anna M. Spence, executrix, vs. J. P. Widney, R. M. Widney, P. M. Green, and the University of Southern California. The complaint recites the fact that during the lifetime of the late E. F. Spence, viz., on January 22, 1889, he executed an instrument in writing to M. M. Bovard, E. F. Spence, H. Sinsabaugh, J. P. Widney, P. M. Green, and R. M. Widney, of which the following is: a copy:

"To sell and convey or mortgage the same, and for such price, and on such brins as said second parties, or any fur of them, may deem best, the proceeds to be used in purchasing and setting up, in first-class working condition, the best set of astronomical instruments and telescope that can be purchased with said funds, to be used and known as the 'Spence observatory of the University of Southern California,' to be owned, controlled and manged by said university. The rents, increance, and such other expenses as any occur in the management of said property, prioric sale, shall be received and collected by M. M. Bovard, one of said trustees, and premises, and interest on any portgage that may be placed thereon. The surplus of said income shall be five property of said M. M. Bovard, or his own use and benefit, for his services herein; said observatory to be increased on what is known as Wilson's Feak, in the county of Los Angeles, State of California, or some other suitable site in the Sierra Madre range, to be selected by the consent of E. F. Spence.

"In case said property, or the proveds therefor, as above specified shall sble site in the Sierra Madre range, to be selected by the consent of E. F. Spence.

"In case said property, or the proceeds thereof, as above specified, shall at the used as herein stated, the said proceeds (except the rents, as herein-before provided.) shall revert to and vest in the said grantor, or his legal representatives.

E. F. SPENCE, "Acknowledged by all trustees." In addition to this, the University of Southern California by its president, A. M. Hough, and secretary, H. Sinsabaugh, accepted the foregoing for the purposes set out.

The complaint states that the late Mr. Spence spent $12,000 to further the building of the observatory, and that the above-named trustees contracted for lenses for a forty-inch telescope to cost f.80,000, some of the lenses having been manufactured before Mr. Spence's death. The telescope, however, was never constructed, nor was the observatory ever located on Wilson's Peak, or any other suitable site. The complaint further alleges that the lenses which have been constructed have been sold to the University of Chicago for $5500, and that the entire project has been abandoned. The trustees have also borrowed $5500 from the State Loan and Trust Company, but this has been repaid by the trustees out of the proceeds of the propety, which, since the death of Mr. Spence, have amounted to $560,170. It is asserted that the trustees owe Alvin Clark $1768.15, and the directors of the University of California claim $2500 for the services of M. M. Bovard as president of the university.

After averring that of the original trustees Bovard and Sinsabaugh are dead, the widow asks an accounting with J. P. Widney, R. M. Widney and P. M. Green, who are still surviving. The court is also asked to declare the trust deed null and void. Bicknell & Trask and Chapman & Hendricks are attorneys for plaintiff.

ORE new Dress Goods, more new Velvets, more new Silks and still more to come. They came in yesterday. The Dress Goods Department is a tower of strength; two of the most elegant window displays ever made in this city. One big double window full of Silks, another big double window full of Matched Suits. Hundreds of pieces of Wool Dress Goods, all new and choice this fall. Yards upon yards of Silks upon our counters fully as choice as those displayed in the window and all different in styles and combinations. The Dress Goods Department is showing no high-priced extreme novelties; we are showing elegant goods at a moderate price; elegant taste and fine effects at a reasonable price. People are seeking moderate-priced goods this season; not high-priced, expensive goods. We are catering to the masses. New Pencil Point Hop Sackings, 46 inches wide, for a dollar a yard; greens and heliotrope prevail. Buy them and combine with silks or velvets; you have an elegant suit at one-half the price of loud pattern suits, and when you go out upon the street you are elegantly dressed with neatness and taste. Fine new All-wool Fancy Dress Goods, the choicest we ever carried, at 60c a yard; still finer goods at 75c; they came in yesterday; the styles and the quality recommend them at the price. Satin back Velvet Ribbons—they are extra choice this, season. A big lot of Yankee notions; the Notion Department is up to the standard of the best in variety; we go more into the details of our Notion Department and carry a more extended line than ever before. Saturday is always a big nick-nack day; it is the big day in the week for notion trade. The Ribbons and the Laces are now in better condition than for months. More new Bourdon Laces today for the first; Black Silk Bourdon Laces-they are the choicest of the season, they are new today. Take a look at the two big double windows—one full of Silk. the other full of Suits combined with silks and velvets; here is elegance, here is taste, combined with cheapness. The Dress Goods Department is second to none, it is the peer of any in this city today; all undesirable, high-priced novelties have been cleared out; new goods at a moderate price have taken their place. Today, special display of New Cloaks; new Cloaks with big sleeves, with full skirts, with butter-fly collars. New Cloaks with dry goods prices, not new cloaks with cloak house prices. The styles are unexcelled, the prices lower than ever. This is the big cloak house of Los Angeles. We sell Royal Worcester Corsets.

SALE!

Is now the talk of the town, and an immense success. We are offering the public wonderful values, as it is cheaper for us to move the cash than our goods. For particulars see our show Windows and the great bargains in our store. Our prices will talk even louder than printers' ink.

PASADENA.

Admission Day Will Pass Very Quietly at Home.

Local Interest -People Coming and Going - Batch of Brevities.

This (Saturday) is Admission day. It will probably be a quieter day in Pasa-dena than the ordinary week day. There will be no local celebration of any kind. The banks and a few of the stores will be closed all day, some of the stores will be closed a part of the day and others will not be closed at all. Everybody who has nothing else to do will spend the day out of town. Some will go to Catalina, others to the neighboring seaside resorts, and still others to the mountain resorts. The bicycle races at Riverside will also claim a certain amount of local attention. Altogether Admission day promises to prove a very uneventful one in Pasadena.

TWO COLORED FAMILIES AT OUTS.

The Arbuckle and the Reynolds families (both colored) are at outs. Mary, daughter of Mrs. Arbuckle, said something about Mrs. Reynolds—which the latter personage didn't like, whereupon Mrs. Reynolds uttered threats against Mary. As a result of it all suit was brought by Mrs. Arbuckle, Mary's mother, to compel Mrs. Reynolds to keep the petice. The case was tried fon Friday before Justice Merriam and was characterized chiefly by a lack of counsel, jury and witnesses.

Peter Steil sat down Friday morning and wrote out a check for $175 payable to the city, this being the amount of the fine imposed upon him by Recorder Rossiter for violating the ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquor in Pasadena. Then he took the check to Recorder Rossiter and got a receipt for the same, and thus ended a case that at one time promised to prove famous. It was understood at the start that Mr. Steil proposed carrying it to the Superior Court, but the payment of the fine indicates that he has changed his mind. Mrs. Michener was thrown out of the buggy and painfully, but not seriously injured.

A Young Couple Who Have Agreed to Disagree.

Fred Downs Held to Answer for a Beastly Crime-Another Story on Smooth Miss Hoffman-Notes and Personals.

Fred Downs was taken before Judge Towner Friday and arraigned on a charge of committing a crime against nature on the person of Carl Jennings, a thirteen-year-old boy of this city. He pleaded "not guilty," and his trial was set for Monday, September 25, at 9:30 a.m.

AGREED TO DISAGREE. For the past several days the tongues of the gossips have been wagging about two newly-married young people in two newly-married young people in this city, and, from recent developments, it would seem that, fcr. once, at least, they knew something of what they were talking about. The fact that Fred Hewitt, who married Miss Jessie Beard of this city only a few weeks ago, has now given notice that he will not be responsible for debts contracted by her, claiming that she has left his bed and board, gives rise to more and graver rumors, and, consequently, gives the gossips new material to work upon. Both these young people are residents of Santa Ana.

enviable reputation on account of her supposed relation in the Bentley-Nordhoit case:

"Miss E. L. Hoffman has taken her departure for green fields and pastures new, and her address is said to be Los Angeles. She went up on the train last week, and doubtless had to bay her fare, which she did not on a recent occasion, if a story told about her is true. She approached Agont Hill at the depot and asked the price of a nound-trip ticket just as the train pulled in. She failed to buy, and when Conductor Heartt came around for tickets on the train a short time after, she appeared much put out over the less of her round-trip ticket, which, she said, she had purchased just as the train rolled into the station. She looked for it all over, but couldn't find it, and so Heartt, his soft heart melting under him, let her ride to Los Angeles free. She returned on the 2:43 p.m. and played the same game on Conductor Connors. As she alighted at the depot and made her way up town, Conners asked Hill who she was, and told him about the lost round-trip ticket, and was somewhat surprised to hear that the lady had not purchased a ticket at all. Next day when Heartt came down at 9:07 he asked Hill who the lady was who rode up with him the day before.

"Didn't she buy a round-trip ticket?"

In the suit of Vina H. Goff against the Santa Ana Board of Education to recover some $600 for salary for a part of a year Judge Towner yesterday (Friday) sustained the demurrer of the defendants as to the first count of the complaint, which is considered to practically settle the matter, as it is not at all likely that the plaintiff can recover on the count which is based on an implied contract to hire the plaintiff for a year. That part of the complaint which Judge Towner ruled against was based on the section of the code which says that school teachers holding city certificates shall not be discharged, except for cause duly ascertained by investigation. In the present case the plaintiff holds no such certificate, for the reason that the city of Santa Ana has no board of examiners, and consequently issues no certificates. In the suit of Vina H. A GROWING INDUSTRY. One of the local papers has the following to say in reference to one of Orange county's growing industries: "Max Nebelungs of Anahelms is engaged in gathering his pampas plumes, and has already plucked several—thousand. On Tuesday he gathered 9000, which was the highest day's work this season. Last year the crop amounted to about one hundred and sixty-eight thousand plumes, and this year it promises to be fully as large, and, owing to the heavy rains of the winter and the abundance of water during the irrigating season, the plumes are much larger and of finer appearance. Max finds a ready sale for his plumes in Germany."

A Demand for Asphalt Sid-walks—The Fruit Excharge.

The demand for the wying of asphalt sidewalks has taken the preference of the street-paving project, and when the winter rains set in Pomona will be in much better shape for her citizens to get over the mud. The first sidewalk to be paved is the west side of Main street, from Holt avenue to First, where it is to connect with the cement walk. The next one will be, or at least should be, Garey avenue, from Holt to Second street. In fact this street is used more, probably, than any other residence street. Then comes Ellen, another much used street. With these three the town should and would be greatly benefited. While there are some upon whom it will work hardship, it would be the same in the next fifty years, and duff times are the times in which the work ought to be done; at least this is the opinion of many men side of Main street, from Holt avenue to at least this is the opinion of many men who have the best interests of the city at heart. With its own water system, the sidewalks and streets pared. Pomona would be one of the most attractive places on the continent.

A large number of the members and friends of the First Presbyterian Church gathered at the parlors of Odd Fellows' gathered at the parlors of Odd Fellows' Hall Thursday evening to welcome the pastor, Rev. W. P. Craig, and his family, after a vacation of two months. A briss quartette under the direction of Prof. A. D. Hunter rendered excellent music for the occasion. After the address of welcome by C. P. Johnson the pastor replied in a few well-chosen remarks. The company was served with ice cream and cake and a good old social time was had by all present. ST. PAUL'S PASTOR.

Rev. John Gray of San Francisco Called.

Formerly Rector of the Church of the Advent.

Which He Presided for Eight Years Past.

Earnest and Progressive Divine, With Reputation for Thoroughly Organized Church Work.

Rev. John Gray, who has just re-wigned the rectorship of the Church of the Advent in San Francisco, has ac-cepted the charge of St. Paul's parish in this city for one year. Mr. Gray enjoys a wide reputation for earnest, progresive and thoroughly organized church work, and he leaves the Church of the Advent in a highly prosperous condition. He will assume charge of condition. He will assume charge of St. Paul's on the first Sunday in October. In the meantime, Rev. R. P. Peet, rector emeritus of Emanuel Church, Newport, R. I., will conduct the services.

The San Francisco Examiner of Thursday, commenting upon Mr. Gray's resignation, says:

When the vestrymen of the Church of the Advent meet this evening they will have presented to them for the consideration of the consideration the resignation of the rector, Rev. John Gray, who, for the past eight years, has filled the pulpit of that church.

The resignation will come in the

The resignation will come in the return of a surptise to a majority of the vestrymen, and to almost every member of the congregation of the Church of the Advent, and coming as it does so close upon the abrupt retirement from the pulpit of St. John's of Rev. John Hempill, it has created much talk among those who have known of the Rev. Mr. Gray's intention irement from the pulpit of St. John's of Rev. John Hempill, it has created much talk among those who have known of the Rev. Mr. Gray's intention of giving up the spiritual care to his congregation.

The letter that will be read to the vestrymen is a long one for a simple letter of resignation. There are ten pages of writing—enough to embrace the resignations of every one connected with the Church of the Advent if what every one connected with the church says is true.

Last night the Rev. Mr. Gray said that there were two reasons why he had decided to leave the pulpit of the church he has so long filled. First, he said that it was "best for the general welfare of the parish" that he should tender his resignation. Then he quickly added that there were no factional troubles within the church. Everything, he declared, was peace and harmony; not the slightest sign of dissension. But he did not explain just why the "general welfare of the parish" required his resignation.

"Then there is another reason why I want to go," said the reverend gentleman, who is so widely known in that section of the city termed "south of Market street." "My little boy," he continued, "is very sick, and the doctors tell me that to save, or even prolong, his life, I will have to take him to a warmer climate. He is a sufferer from spinal trouble, and there is no hope of his every getting any better here. He must be taken where he can be out in the open air most of the time. That, of course, is impossible in this city, and so I must take him way. 'That is the principal reason why I have tendered my resignation as recotor of the Church of the Advent. There are, as I said before, no troubles within the church, nd no financial reasons induced me to make the move I have made. The church does not owe me a cent. My salary during the eight years that I have been the rector of the Church of the Advent. There are, as I said before, no troubles within the church, and no financial reasons induced me to make the move I have not accept the eight years tha boy. It is nice and warm, where he can be out in the open air most of the time. But even if I do accept the call extended me from St. Paul's, I shall do so conditionally. That is, I shall go there for one year only. If the climatic change should improve the health of my son, then I will perhaps remain, if all else is agreeable, but in the event the boy does not improve, then I shall seek other places, probably in the South."

The treasurer of the church, who were then I shall seek other places, probably in the South."

The treasurer of the church, who was with the clergyman, added his statement to that of Mr. Gray, to the effect that there was no trouble in the church and that financial matters did not enter into the causes which had resulted in the resignation of the rector. "The parish has no obligations except those due the treasurer." said that gentleman. "Every cent due Mr. Gray has been paid him."

There is hardly a more familiar figure "south of Market street" than the Rev. John Gray. For eight years he has been the rector of the Church of the Advent, which, until quite recently, was on Howard street, just opposite New Montgomery. In years gone by when the houses of the wealthy ornamented the heights along First street, the Church of the Advent when the wealthy changed their houses of wood on Rincon Hill for their palaces of stone and marble out along the heights of California street, the Church of the Advent suffered just as the value of the property vacated by the rich depreciated. Rectors have come and gone, and the Church of the Advent, derrived of most of its wealthy parishloners, lost most of its former glory.

One day the Rev. John Gray came to fill the pulpit of the Church of the Advent. He was a hard worker in the service of the Lord. He went among the people of his parish constantly. He got to know them all. More people used to go to the weather-worn house of worship on Howard street on Sundays than in the days when the congregation was made up of wealthy aristocrats and the church front was always kept freshly painted. For years he toiled by day and night. The Church of the Advent became known as the church of the poor people. Then one day it was ahnounced that it had been decided to build a new church. A lot was purchased on Eleventh street, and the erection of a modern church edifice was begun. The building was completed only a short time ago, and now, just as the rector has his flock quartered in their new home, he, for "the general welfare of the parish," steps down from the pulpit he has filled for eight years.

Everything in Readiness for the Races

Today.

Everything is in readiness for the big bicycle races at Riverside under the auspices of the Riverside Wheel-men today. The track has been re-graded, the outer edge upon the curves elevated six feet above the inner, and it is in better condition than ever be-fore Wheelmen from all ever Seath elevated six feet above the inner, and it is in better condition than ever before. Wheelmen from all over Southern California have been arriving for more than a week, and Friday the streets of the city seemed almost given over to wheelmen, while the track at Athletic Park was kept warm with dozens of racers out speeding. The road race, to occur at 9 in the morning, attracted more entries than any other one event, there being thirty-two. For this there are twenty-six prizes offered, ranging from a high-grade wheel to a year's subscription to a weekly paper. The officers of the day are as follows: Chief officer, J. A. Simms, Riverside; referce, S. J. Castleman, Riverside; judges, W. A. Correll, Riverside; J. S. Thayer, Los Angeles; W. J. Lamerick, Riverside; timers, H. C. F. Smith, Los Angeles; W. J. expenses were cut $163,867. Thus the net earnings increased $137,242. Employees of the Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis "Air Line" road are dissatisfied over the manner in which they were paid for services rendered in August. The checks given the men find it impossible to get them cashed. The company refuses to redate the checks or to pay cash, and the men are considering how they shall secure their money.

The possibility that the lease under which the Northern Pacific Railway operates the Wisconsin Central Railway, and thus gains an entrance into Chicago, will be terminated because the Northern Pacific has not paid its rental, has started much gossip. The amount due the Wisconsin Central people is about $240,000. The Wisconsin Central people is about $240,000. The Wisconsin Central people is about $240,000. The Northern Pacific say they are not worrying about the Wisconsin Central's threat. The whole affair is now in the courts.

In glass vials, hermetically sealed, and always fresh—is the way Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets come. When you take a pill it's an important point to have them small — provided they have equal strength and efficacy. You'll find what you want in these little liver pills of Dr. Pierce's. They're put up in a better way, and they act in a better way, than the huge old-fashioned pills. What you want when you're "all out of sorts"—grumpy, thick-headed and take a gloomy view of life, is these Pellets to clear up your system and start your liver into healthful action. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved, and cured. They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give Martington, in the start for the good you get.

Los Angeles Medical and Surgical Institute, morning, at about 10 o'clock, a young man was seen to walk away with Mr. Niemeyer's pail of luncheon.

Mr. Niemeyer chased after the young man, who was walking rapidly, and soon overtook him. The fellow said that he was out of work, and had no money. Mr. Niemeyer said to the young man that he would go with him to the police station, and that if the officers there did not know him (the young man) then he (Niemeyer) would give him some money with which to get something to eat.

The fellow at first assented, and walked with Mr. Niemeyer to a point near the station, where he broke-away and ran. Mr. Niemeyer chased after him up Second-street hill, and called to another young man to stop him, which was done by waiting for the runner to get past, and then jumping on him from behind, so as to fell him to the ground.

At the police station the young man gave his name as Stanley, but was identified as one Charles Staples, who had a short while before done time.

Staples was taken before Justice Austin in the afternoon, on a charge of pettyl larceny. His case was continued over till Monday. The Bazar Lounge.

There is an especial nook in the recess beyond the lunchroom, into which the lounge just fits—that is, into which this one just fits, for it had to be made to order, the first one proving too large. It is covered with a pretty portiere, also their donation, and the double purchase consumed exactly the sum raised by the bazar.
